Oakland

Features You Want in Your New Car Best Supplied by the Sensible Six

POWER—The six-cylinder, valve-in head, high speed motor gives 41 h. p. to every 53 pounds of car weight.

Light Weight—The Sensible Six weighs but 2150 pounds, due to unusual skill in design and elimination of all excess weight. This means wonderful performance ability, as well as great economy of fuel and tires.

ROOMINESS—Wheelbase is 112 inches, with body 6 inches longer than its predecessor, our model 32. Rear seat is 46 inches wide. Sides are high cushions deep and very comfortable.

Extra Large Tires—Tires are 32x4 inches, non skid rear. No other car of Oakland Six weight is over tired to such an extent. This means exceptional riding qualities and big tire mileage.

RIDING COMFORT—Spring suspension gives remarkably smooth road action, reducing rebound to a minimum. Rear springs are 51 inches long, of semi-elliptic construction. Front springs all semi-elliptic, 35 inches long.

EQUIPMENT—Delco starting, lighting, ignition; Marvel Carburetor; full floating rear axle, one-bearing type; Hotchkiss drive; positive lubrication indicator on dash; new type overlapping windshield; leather flap protecting body finish at door handles; 12 1-2 gallon fuel tank at rear; Stearns vacuum feed system; genuine leather upholstery, pleated type; tops (one man or closed convertible type), robe rail, foot rail, etc.

Maxwell

There Are Reasons For Maxwell Durability

MOTOR cars especially light weight cars, are subjected to much rough usage. Many precautions, therefore, are essential if the car is to give long and satisfactory service to its owner.

In addition to the ordinary devices employed by most motor car builders, we are constantly installing new and more severe methods for testing our materials. We want every possible element of uncertainty removed from the performance of the finished Maxwell Car.

As a result of the preliminary care we exercise, and the great lengths to which we go to insure absolute dependability in our product, the Maxwell has acquired a world-wide reputation for sturdiness and serviceability.

And when, in the early part of 1916, the Maxwell actually became the World's Endurance Champion (by traveling 22,022 miles in 44 days and nights without a motor stop) we saw all our effort and expense crystallized into a big and commanding asset.

We believe in doing things a little better than they have been done before. We believe that it pays, not only in dollars and cents, but also from a standpoint of personal pride and satisfaction without which, Maxwell could not have attained its unquestioned class leadership.
